- 6 Ms. Sherin was a competent consulting structural engineer. A client approached Ms. Sherin to review structural design of a multi-storeyed building. He wants the report within one week. Ms. Sherin agreed to review the design. Due to the pressure of other assigned works, Ms. Sherin assigned the task to a site engineer in her company, Mr. Abhinand, who was experienced in construction related works, but had little background in structural design. As the assigned task was beyond his knowledge and as Ms. Sherin was busy with other works, he approached his friend Mr. Akash, who is a project engineer in another construction company, doing construction of multi-storeyed buildings. Mr. Akash was also not competent enough to review structural design. With the help of Mr. Akash, Mr. Abhinand prepared the report and submitted to Ms. Sherin. Due to work pressure Ms. Sherin mailed the report to the client without reading it. When the client received the report, he was shocked and phoned Ms. Sherin that he was unhappy with the report and would not pay for it. He reported the incident to the Association of consulting engineers where Ms. Sherin was registered and requested them to take disciplinary action against Ms.
